ORIGINAL

My eagerness of seeking membership of [REDACTED] Sorority, Inc. is to nurture connectin and uplift further ladies through service. On a campus where the Black community consists of nine percent of the population, illustrious women are needed to make a change. I have been instilled with the values of perseverance, spirituality, goal setting, and self-discipline through my interactions with Delta members over the years. After my Jabberwock experience as a [REDACTED], it solidified my desire to become a member of [REDACTED] Sorority, Inc. During that time frame I observed how engaged and indebted the [REDACTED] members were while servicing the [REDACTED] Give Thanks Walk and volunteering at a nursing home. I realized their morals and values aligned with mine and I was interested in being a part of that change. The laughs, the smiles, and the sisterhood that I gained in my experience was a bond I longed for in college. Through a series of educational, cultural, and community service activities, I found a love for the sorority and its members. Throughout my time at [REDACTED] [REDACTED] University my love has persisted through my interactions with the [REDACTED] Chapter.

EDITED

My desire to seek membership in [REDACTED] Sorority, Inc. stems from my resolve to nurture connections with like-minded women and uplift others through public service. On a campus where the Black community consists of nine percent of the population, distinguished women are needed to make a change.
